

Laws of Sivashanmugam

- ❖ You would eat all only if you could eat your self.
- ❖ You would move all only if you could move your self.
- ❖ You would create all only if you could create your self.
- ❖ You would measure all only if you could measure your self.
- ❖ You would force all only if you could force your self.
- ❖ You would analyze all only if you could analyze your self.
- ❖ You would distinguish all only if you could distinguish your self.
- ❖ You would imagine all only if you could imagine your self.
- ❖ You would represent all only if you could represent your self.
- ❖ You would teach all only if you could teach your self.
- ❖ You would learn all only if you could learn your self.
- ❖ You would study all only if you could study your self.
- ❖ You would use all only if you could use your self.
- ❖ You would change all only if you could change your self.